Dear Sissi,

2/2/83

Thank you very much for your kind letter and those marvellous self-sticking note pads!

I'd started to use the tiny ones in indicating copies to be made but found I still had to use paperclips. The larger ones should obviate the need to mess around with clips, so Lil and I will both think of your kindness often!

Indeed the paper that works in the copier is a boon to Lil, who also makes copies of the tax returns she prepares.

First time I can I'll go back to my local supplier because, among other things, this proves that the problem is only the paper.

I've been busy on FOIA cases but the first free time I have will be used to complete the subject-heading list of files. That should make it a little easier to locate some in the future.

Glad you feel you accomplished much.

Please feel free to call, as you did yesterday, if I can help. But remember I'm usually in my walking therapy until close to 11.

I'm very glad, for your employer, for Henry and for the people who will read his book, that you are so careful and detailed in your checking. The result, certainly, will be a better and more informative book.

Our best wishes,
